ADDRESS.

It has often been matter of surprise, that religious denominations so extensive and influential as are the various branches of Methodism, should, to the present time, have been without an annual publication of this nature. We stop not to ask the cause. We would rather supply the desideratum. We intend the METHODIST ALMANACK for that purpose. As such it was projected, and for that object it is published. How far we have succeeded, will be for our readers to decide. We have had but little time to collect and arrange its contents. Another year we may make some improvements. Meanwhile we shall be glad of the suggestions of judicious friends. We would call special attention to a feature new to a calendar, which we have added, namely the Tables at the foot of each month for a systematic reading of the Scriptures in the closet and the family.

JOHN WESLEY'S EARLY DAYS.

WESLEY's sympathies were neither with the monk nor with the monarch; but, a child of the people, as all great men have been, his sympathies were with the masses, the men from whom he sprung. He was reared amidst obscurity, poverty, and rebuke—rebuks that implied no disgrace, poverty which piety hallowed, and obscurity that bred no discontent; and he never forgot the discipline of his childhood, and the tradition of his poor but godly parentage; and his heart ever found its most genial soil amid the humble, holy, and enduring people of God. Of ambition he seems to have been absolutely incapable, except the ambition of doing good. He had rather suffer any day than shine; and it was this thorough oneness of mind, proportion, and condition with the people, that prompted and controlled his career. He looked at the man through the frieze jacket of careful thrift, and the looped and windowed raggedness of abject penury; yea, he looked at him in the haunts of vice and the prison-house of the criminal, and saw written upon him, even there, the image—though sorely mutilated—of God; just as beneath the jewelled cap of wealth, and the purple of the nobility, he saw no more. The home of his father was needy, but not sordid; poverty-stricken, but garnished by high principle and dogged resolution; full of anxieties for temporal provision, yet free from the discontent which dishonours God. Never was child more fortunate in a maternal guide than John Wesley, and never could mother claim more exclusively the merits of a son's early training. Until eleven years of age he was entirely educated by her. Literary composition, correspondence, parochial and secular duties fully employed his father; but, amid the domestic cares of fifteen living children, his pious and gifted mother found time to devote six hours daily to the education of her family. Passing under the tutelage of his mother, young Wesley was placed at the Charter-house School, London, at eleven years of age—a sedate, quiet, industrious pupil. The regularity of system which characterized the man, even then was visible in his methodical, constitutional race round the garden thrice every morning. His excellent habits were rewarded by the esteem of his masters, and his election, six years afterwards, to Christ Church, Oxford. Waiving his religious tendencies while at the university, and the origin of Methodism among a small number of the collegians, who associated for mutual improvement and religious exercises, received the sacrament weekly, and practised unusual austerities in regard to food, raiment, and amusements; waiving these, the world, which has a keen sense of the ludicrous, saw in all this only oddity and folly, perhaps something still less worthy of respect—hypocrisy and love of notoriety; defects which could have been borne with, had they really existed, better than that serious, practical godliness that intimidation could not warp, nor ridicule shame. Therefore, they were designated Sacramentarians, Bible-bigots, Bible-moths, the Holy and the Godly Club, though the name of Methodist gradually stuck to them—a name they neither sought nor claimed, since, if it gave no glory, it implied little reproach. A document published by the collegians in their defence, inquiring, "Whether all should not imitate Him as much as they can, who went about doing good?" might be characterized as the beatitudes of our blessed Lord, charged home, and chambered in the heart by the impulse of an earnest query—a whole library of folio divinity in small—the law that came by Moses, clothed in inimitable grace and truth that came by Jesus Christ—a most holy inquisition, of which no brotherhood need be ashamed—the brief but weighty preface to a life of labour and of love.

JOHN WESLEY'S PUBLIC LIFE.

THE first grand truth thrown on the surface of Wesley's career was the necessity of personal and individual religion. Very soon after starting on his course, he learnt that the laver of Baptism was unavailing to wash from the stain of human defilement; the Supper of the Lord, to secure admission to the marriage Supper of the Lamb; and Church organization, to draft men collectively into Heaven by simple virtue of its corporate existence; and hence he always attached supreme importance to the possession of individual piety. A second truth developed in the ministry of John Wesley is, the absolute need of spiritual influence to secure the conversion of the soul. Opposed to this was a school, of which Bishop Warburton was the representative, but which fell beneath the arguments employed by the founder of Methodism, whose sentiments at the same time respecting the Church as a spiritual organization, consisting of spiritual men, associated for spiritual purposes in accordance with the 19th article of the Church of which he was a member, afforded a beautiful and Scriptural theory, though, to a great degree, an unapproachable ideal in this country, until that system arose under his own creative hand, which made it a reality, and gave it a positive existence, "a local habitation and a name." Its name, it is true, was not the Church; it was "The Society," and in other forms and subdivisions, bands, classes, &c.; but in essence it was the same. As to John Wesley's personal characteristics, they were an indomitable firmness, and a boundless benevolence. The former he derived from his parents. His mother was the daughter of an eminent Nonconformist minister, and at the age of thirteen had studied the controversy of "Church and State," and had made up her mind, with force of reason too, to condemn her father's decision, and take her place for life on the other side—a position from which she was never moved. Neither could she, at any time, renounce her Jacobite respect for the jus divinum of the Stuart kings, nor say "Amen" to her husband's prayers for him of the revolution, nor bow beneath the thousand trials of her married life. His father, too, stole away from the Dissenting academy, where he was training for the ministry, tramped it to Oxford, and there entered himself a penniless servitor, and subsequently rode off in a huff from his wife, and never joined her for a twelve-month, till the death of the King released him from his sturdily-kept, yet unrighteous, vow. The same also who "fought with wild beasts" for High Church of the highest order, and shrank from no cuffs he caught in such a cause; and who, when his "job" was consumed in the fire that burnt his parsonage, sat down to re-compose and re-write that learned and ponderous Latin folio, which had previously occupied him the labours of years. John Wesley had the same unbending sinew. He was made of stern, unpliant stuff. This was conspicuous in his refusal to comply with his aged father's imploring entreaties to succeed him in the vicarage of Epworth. As to the second trait in his character—benevolence—it is to be found in that sentiment, "The friends of all, and the enemies of none," and in the system of humanity, piety, and mercy which he reared.

ORIGINAL RULES.

IN obedience to the command of God by St. James, and by the advice of Peter Böhler, it is agreed by us:—

1. That we will meet together, once a-week, to confess our faults one to another, and pray one for another, that we may be healed.

2. That the persons so meeting be divided into several bands, or little companies, none of them consisting of fewer than five, or more than ten persons.

3. That every one in order speak as freely, plainly, and concisely as he can, the real state of his heart, with his several temptations and deliverances, since the last time of meeting.

4. That all the bands have a Conference at eight o'clock every Wednesday evening, begun and ended with singing and prayer.

5. That any who desire to be admitted into this society be asked, "What are your reasons for desiring this? Will you be entirely open; using no kind of reserve? Have you any objection to any of our orders?" (Which may then be read.)

6. That when any new member is proposed, every one present speak clearly and freely whatever objection he has to him.

7. That those against whom no reasonable objection appears, be, in order for their trial, formed into one or more distinct bands, and some person agreed on to assist them.

8. That after two months' trial, if no objection then appear, they may be admitted into the society.

9. That every fourth Saturday be observed as a day of general intercession.

10. That on the Sunday seven-night following, be a general love-feast, from seven till ten o'clock in the evening.

11. That no particular member be allowed to act in anything contrary to any order of the society: And that if any persons, after being thrice admonished, do not conform thereto, they be not any longer esteemed as members."

These were denominated by Mr. Wesley the Fundamental Rules of the society. They were drawn up in London, Monday, May 1, 1738. In the same year, December 25, followed The Rules of the Band Societies. It was not till May 1, 1743, that The Nature, Design, and General Rules of the United Societies, in London, Bristol, Kingswood, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, &c., proceeded from his pen, at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, signed by himself and his brother Charles, and given for the guidance of the body throughout the world, and to the exit of time. The Band Rules were written on a Christmas-day and the Society Rules on a Sunday; on the latter of which days he received the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, at St. James's Church, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, in the morning, and preached at noon, on God's Covenant with his people. On Christmas-day, the year following, namely 1744, he wrote what he designated Directions given to the Band Societies, thus giving a kind of finish to the code of laws generally to be observed by the members of his community.

ORIGIN OF THE TERM METHODIST.

THE name of Methodist is of ancient date. Themison was the founder of a sect of the name, about thirty or forty years before the Christian era; and it flourished, according to Alpinus, about three hundred years. Le Clerc informs us, that the Physicians of this sect were called Methodists, because they took it into their heads to find out a more easy method of teaching and practising the art of physic. However this may be, it is certain that some of the greatest physicians of the time in which the sect flourished were Methodists. That Themison was a man of the most extensive practice is evidently implied in the words of Juvenal, if he speaks of the same person, which is generally supposed. He is describing the infirmities of an old man, and observes,

“Circumsilit agmine facto
Morborum omne genus, quorum si nomina quæras
Promptius expediam
Quot Themison ægros autumnò occiderit uno.”

“A whole troop of all kinds of disease rush upon him on all sides; if you ask their names, I could as soon reckon up how many patients Themison killed in one autumn.” Had his practice, however, been very unsuccessful, it is not probable it would have become so extensive as to become proverbial.

The name of Methodist was again employed in 1657, during the protectorate of Oliver Cromwell, by a person called John Spencer, who was librarian to Sion College, and who published a book, consisting of extracts from various authors, in which he speaks of the eloquence and elegance of the Sacred Scriptures, and inquires, “Where are now our Anabaptists, and plain pack-staff Methodists, who esteem all flowers of rhetoric in sermons, no better than stinking weeds?” Though there is no particular account of the tenets of the persons referred to, it is certain that a peculiar description of religionists were denominated Methodists, during the period specified, and that they were distinguished for great plainness of speech—no bad compliment.

Gale, in the fourth part of his “Court of the Gentiles,” notices also a religious sect, whom he styles The New Methodists (p. 215). This part of his work was published in 1678.

And Dr. Calamy, in one of his volumes of “The Ejected Ministers,” remarks, that they called those who stood up for God, Methodists. The coincidence in these latter is the more remarkable, as it was in the time of the grandfather of the founder of modern Methodism, after whom the latter was called John Wesley.

It is not improbable, that the Fellow of Merton College, who gave the Oxonian Pietists the name of Methodists, had been aided in his work by the revival of the epithet in times not much more than half a century from his own.

ARE THE METHODISTS DISSENTERS?

IN defining the extent to which the Wesleyans merit the cognomen—and even Mr. Wesley himself might be considered a Dissenter—it is only necessary to name field-preaching; the employment of lay preachers; the erection of chapels unconsecrated, and not subject to ecclesiastical jurisdiction; the use of extempore prayers by himself, and the encouragement of them in his societies, class-meetings, band-meetings, love-feasts, and watch-nights, under an economy exclusively his own; and the annual Conferences of his preachers, all of which may be deemed a departure from strict churchmanship. When to these obvious innovations are added the commencement of a financial economy for the support of the preachers and the spread of religious truth, it is easy to perceive the rudiments of a system intended, indeed, to be auxiliary to, but partly independent of, the Church of England. The true solution of the whole case, and one which obviates the charges of inconsistency, is Mr. Wesley’s persuasion that he was bettering the Establishment by measures which he hoped would be eventually recognised. While his attachment to the Church was truly conscientious, equally so was his determination to innovate as Providence should direct him. He was not a Dissenter, therefore, in his own sense; but he is in the esteem of other religious communities, and of not a few of his own. Mr. Wesley’s justification of his conduct is to be found in his reply to the Bishop of Bristol, who politely ordered him to leave his diocese:—"My lord, my business on earth is to do what good I can; wherever, therefore, I think I do most good, there must I stay so long as I think so. At present I think I can do good here, therefore here I stay. As to my preaching here, a dispensation of the gospel is committed to me, and woe unto me if I preach not the gospel, wherever I am in the habitable world. Your lordship knows, being ordained a priest, by the commission I then received, I am a priest of the Church universally, and, being ordained a fellow of a college, I was not limited to any particular cure, but have an indeterminate commission to preach the Word of God in any part of the Church of England. I do not, therefore, conceive that in preaching here by this commission I break any human law. When I am convinced I do, then it will be time to ask, 'Shall I obey God or man?'" This might be construed into dissent in the spirit, by a Dissenter—his practice and system, into dissent in the letter.

THE BOOK-ROOM.

THE establishment for the publication of Wesleyan Literature, controlled by the Wesleyan Ministers resident in London, and supervised by a general committee, is what may be justly designated one of the denominational excellencies of Wesleyan Methodism. It was instituted by Mr. Wesley, when the Connexion was comparatively small; and by this he secured the circulation of his works, wherever he or his "helpers" laboured,—deriving from thence a considerable amount of support for the purpose of carrying out his great schemes of moral and religious reform and of literary improvement among the masses of the people. The sales of 1848, though exceeding those of 1847, were not equal to those of two years preceding, when the population of the country was generally more regularly employed and better remunerated. Another cause of diminished capital, and consequent smaller appropriation of profits to Connexional Funds, than in some former years, was the renewal of leases, &c., occasioning extra expense. That a degree of depression should be felt, is not remarkable, when some of the oldest publishing houses in London have declared, that they never knew a time of more general depression in the book trade.

This establishment, it may be remarked, as well as his voluminous works, Mr. Wesley, by his will, bequeathed to the Conference. The publishing department is carried on in spacious premises, 14, City-road, London, and the selling department at 66, in the "Row." There are two Editors and one Book-steward.

In connection with the Book-room, there exists a committee for the publication of Religious Tracts. The following is the issue for the year:

Total of Tracts, Tract Covers, and Hand Bills, 1,469,174; being a considerable increase on the year preceeding.

The Christian Miscellany, a recently established periodical, averages from 50,000 to 60,000 monthly, being 6,000 beyond the previous year.

Early Days, another recently established periodical, 34,000 monthly.

Of the Shilling Magazine, 8,000 are issued, and of the Sixpenny number, 3,500.

Youth's Instructor, 4,750.

Hymn Books, during the year, of different sizes:—Of the 64mo. size, 12,825; 72mo., 3,500; 48mo., 29,500; 32mo., 4,800; 24mo., 4,325; 18mo., 2,200; 12mo., 2,565; 8vo., 330; 24mo., pearl, double column,

The sales of books in the circuits during the year amounted to £24,075 16s. 9d.; in London, i. e. at Paternoster-row, to £5,257 16s. 7d.; proceeds of advertisements, £664 0s. 6d.

The profits on the sales of books are annually devoted to various charitable purposes; to the spread of the gospel in England, in the Shetland Isles, and in Ireland; as well as to the two institutions for the education of candidates for the ministry, &c. &c. Mr. Mason stated in the Book-Committee, that, for the last two years, these allowances had exceeded the limits which the bonâ fide profits of the Book-Room justified,—diminished as those profits had been by the pressure of the times. To such an extent had the funds of the establishment been drawn upon, that the estimated value of the property was £1,500 less than it was twelvemonths before. To remedy this, it was proposed that the grants should be diminished,—

To the Theological Institution, a sum less than last year by	£200
For the relief of Ireland, less	100
For the Preachers' Fund, less	200

It was further resolved to recommend that the Preachers should give up the privilege of purchasing the Book-Room publications at half-price, and that the discount allowed to them should henceforth be £25 per cent., with the exception of the Magazine, which should be sold to them as before.

In consequence of such demands made upon the funds by public charities, very little remuneration is given to the best writers. This, it is to be feared, operates against the literary character of the publications of the Connexion; and, consequently, as much is lost as gained by it.

KINGSWOOD AND WOODHOUSE GROVE SCHOOLS.

MR. WESLEY remarks in his Journal (Works, vol. 1., p. 252), in reference to Kingswood, Nov. 1839: "A large room was begun for the school, having four small rooms at either end for the schoolmasters (and, perhaps, if it should please God, some poor children) to lodge in." The children of respectable persons, both in England and from various parts of the Continent, were educated in it; but the pupils were afterwards restricted to the children of the preachers. In 1811 (see Min. of Con. p. 225), it was found expedient to establish an additional school; and, accordingly, the Conference gave permission to purchase the estate of Woodhouse Grove, near Leeds, in Yorkshire, for the purpose; which, when done, was legally conveyed to twenty-three Trustees, on the behalf of the Conference, selected from among the preachers.

These two Seminaries partake more of the character of an ancient endowment or foundation than of a modern institution, established and supported by donations and subscriptions. Two hundred sons of Wesleyan ministers are not only educated, but boarded and clothed, &c., without cost to their parents. Their term of residence is six years, viz.: from eight to fourteen years of age—except that, annually, in one case in each school, an extra year is granted, as a reward of distinguished merit. Each school is under the management of a local committee, consisting of certain of its resident officers, with ministers and gentlemen chiefly living in the neighbourhood. These local committees report their proceedings to a general committee of ministers and gentlemen annually appointed by the Conference.

For the admirable object for which these schools were instituted, the Wesleyan Methodists have already contributed the noble sum of upwards of £272,000. The total income for the support of these schools amounted, during the last year, to £9,671 2s. 10d. ; being a little less than the previous year's income, and £542 9s. 11d. short of the expenditure.

The conduct of the boys, according to the last report, had given general satisfaction ; no less than 40, in Kingswood School, had regularly met in class for religious instruction and improvement, under the guidance of the Governor. The classical examination was conducted by the Rev. John Crowther, and the mathematical, by Thomas Exley, Esq., A.M., and was highly satisfactory. The report of Woodhouse Grove local committee was no less pleasing, as to the advancement of the boys in learning, stating that several of them were under the influence of religion, and gave promise of moral excellence. The influenza had prevailed in the course of the year, but no fatal effects resulted from it. The Rev. John Manners, M.A., and Mr. Howarth, both of the Wesleyan Proprietary College, Sheffield, conducted the classical and mathematical examinations here, whose report was also generally satisfactory. A new wing having been added to this school, it is now capable of accommodating 120 boys.

Small additions are made to the libraries of these schools annually, but not sufficient to render them equal to the wants of the pupils.

A new school is to be erected at Lansdowne, near Bath, in the place of the one at Kingswood, intended to be called New Kingswood. The subscriptions already promised towards this erection amounted to £5,020, of which nearly £1,900 has been paid. Of the whole sum subscribed the preachers have contributed about £1,550, and the boys at Kingswood (given and obtained from their friends), £109 11s. 11d. The Committee require that £8,000 be promised before the building is proceeded with.

Among the pupils educated at these schools may be recognized some of the most distinguished Wesleyan ministers, such as the Revs. T. Lessey, J. Lomas, F. A. West, G. B. Macdonald, S. D. Waddy, W. Griffith, and W. Gregory ; and even many eminent men, who have departed from their father's communion, have partaken of the benefits of these institutions. Two examples, in two widely different spheres will suffice—the present Professor of Pastoral Theology in the University of Oxford, and the celebrated author of “Ten Thousand a-Year,” were both Kingswood scholars.

GENERAL WESLEYAN EDUCATION.

THERE is a committee for general educational purposes, consisting of forty-four Wesleyan ministers, and forty-four Laymen, two Treasurers, and four Secretaries, designated “the General Committee of Education ;” sanctioned by the Conference (Minutes, vol. ix, p. 243). In the report for the year, is its “Plan,” including the functions of the General Committee,—the kind of schools,—the principles on which the schools are conducted,—their government,—their support,—the teachers,—school-houses,—statistic educational information,—together with an account of the general connexional aid and co-operation imparted.

During the year, no less than 116 applications have been made for teachers by different schools in the Connexion,—grants have been made to thirty-nine schools, to assist them in fitting up ;—eighteen new schools are reported to have been established ;—and eight are stated to have been abandoned since the last meeting of the Committee of Review, two of which had received grants in aid from the Committee, and others of them trained teachers. What is not a little surprising, nine schools were found to have dismissed their trained teachers, and, for the purpose of saving expense, to have adopted teachers who had received no regular training. The following is a general summary of the Sabbath and Week-day schools in the Wesleyan Connexion :—

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Schools. Total number 4,169,—increase 65.

Boys, 219,798,—increase 9,730 } total number 442,896,—increase 17,825.
Girls, 223,098,—increase 8,095 }

Average number in attendance, 343,951,—increase 19,315.

Number of children attending select classes, 22,703,—increase 8,418.

Number of teachers, 81,780,—increase 2,125.

Number of teachers in society, 57,724,—increase 4,326.

Schools in which the Conference Catechism is taught, 3,841.

Schools regularly attending chapel, 3,910.

Total cost £26,420,—increase of expenditure £464 15s. 0d.

DAY SCHOOLS.

Schools. Total number 408 of these—

Schools taught by trained teachers, recommended by the committee, 183.

Schools taught by other teachers, including persons trained elsewhere, but the largest number untrained, 225.

Boys Schools, 64.

Girls Schools, 58.

Mixed Schools, 230.

Infants' Schools, 56.

Total number of Boys taught, 20,261.

Total number of Girls, 12,495.

Infants, 4,923.

Annual cost, £24,821 12s. 10d.

The Committee, in the course of the year, maintained, in the Glasgow Normal School, twenty male teachers and seventeen female.

The income and expenditure of the Day Schools have varied but little from the year preceding; the Building and Reserve Fund, with a small balance on the annual account, amounting to £20,673.

Model Deeds, No. 1 and No. 2, were adopted at the Conference; the first relating to buildings employed as Schools only; the second enabling any committee to build a school and employ it as a place of worship, with provisos empowering them, if repairs or enlargement were needed, to apply for assistance, and cease to use it as a place of worship, without a new deed.

The question of building and supporting a NORMAL SEMINARY was discussed, but not determined upon, in consequence of the conflicting estimates brought before the committee, one estimate amounting to £31,800, with an annual expenditure of £5,000. The subject was referred to a committee.

THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION.

THE two branches of this Institution are located at RICHMOND and DIDS-BURY, and are placed under the management of Local Committees, and of one General Committee, which, like other Connexional Committees, meets annually, preparatory to the Conference. The reports of the Theological and Classical Examiners, as well as those of the House Governors, presented to the last General Committee, gave a highly satisfactory account of the progress of the students during the year; including their labours in a considerable circle of towns and villages around each branch, by preaching the gospel, by the distribution of tracts, by pastoral visitation, and in other ways, the whole having been attended with considerable success.

The candidates for the ministry, thus educated, are such as have been previously approved by the respective Quarterly Meetings of the Circuits where they have been employed, recommended by the Superintendents and District Meetings, and placed on the President's list of reserve—none others being eligible for admission.

According to the last report, there are now 77 Students in the Institution, namely, 43 at Richmond, and 34 at Didsbury. Of this number, 23 are now in their third year, and 20 in their second. The remaining 34 have been admitted since the last Conference. Of the Students who had completed their course at the Conference, eight have been appointed to circuits at home, and one has been sent to a Foreign station. The number of students is at present greater than at any former period; the Richmond Branch having had 17 more Students than the previous year, and that at Didsbury, an increase of 7.

In consequence of an increase of expenditure, occasioned by the increased number of students, there was found to be due to the Treasurer a debt of £1,268. Nearly 100 circuits contribute nothing towards the funds of the Institution. Subscriptions to the amount of £34 13s. were forwarded to the Treasurer from 17 Circuit Quarterly Meetings, towards the support of the Institution; and £14 14s. from the trustees of 9 chapels; chiefly from places in the immediate vicinity of the respective branches.

The Libraries of the Institution are but scantily furnished. Since the commencement, in 1834, 243 students have been sent into the vineyard at home and abroad. Of these, 22 were in the Institution, one year; 7, one year and-a-half; 117, two years; 3, two years and-a-half; and 91, three years.

Thomas Farmer, Esq., presented to the last Conference a full length statue of the late Rev. John Wesley, to be placed in the Richmond Branch of the Institution. In 1828, on the late Joseph Butterworth, Esq., M.P. for Dover, seeing the first formation of the model by the late Samuel Manning, Esq., sculptor, he gave him a commission to execute the work in marble, at the price of 1,000 guineas. A block of marble was purchased for the purpose, but the decease of Mr. Butterworth induced Mr. Manning to suspend the work. It was subsequently finished. When the model was exhibited at the Royal Academy, its own merits, as stated by Henry Howard, Esq., R.A., gained it a central position among the sculpture exhibited for the year. The marble is beautifully pure; the pedestal, which is of Peterhead granite, is also an excellent specimen. The weight of the statue, with the pedestal, is between three and four tons.

The contributions of the districts of Great Britain, in the shape of subscriptions, amount, for the year, to £1,941 9s.; from ministers in Great Britain, to £263 14s. 6d.; from missionaries, to £89 4s.; from Ireland, to £7 6s.; from ministers in Ireland, to £4 2s.; from foreign stations, to £14 18s. 10d.; from the treasurers of the Wesleyan Missionary Society, for 20 students designed for foreign stations, to £1,022; annual grant from the Book-room, to £1,000; exclusive of interest and legacies.

CHAPEL FUND.

THE total amount of collections and subscriptions during the year, was found to be £5,013 2s. 4d., which is about £200 less than last year. One half of this being appropriated to the promotion of day-school education, the remaining was available for the purposes of chapel relief. The treasurer had, at the time the Committee met, the sum of £2,253 0s. 11d. in the bank. This, with an additional thousand pounds, was appropriated in promised grants to distressed chapels.

The late Thomas Bush, Esq., of Lambourne, had left a legacy, amounting (minus £10 legacy duty) to £100.

After considering the cases, in which applications were made, grants were made to meet the annual deficiencies of the following chapels: Globe Road, London; Hastings; Horsham; St. Albans; Rickmansworth; Bridgerule (Holdsworth circuit); Ashburton; Bungay; Evercreech, in the Shepton Mallet circuit; Barford, in the Leamington circuit; Monmouth; Cradley, in the Stourbridge circuit; Mount Pleasant, in the Stourbridge circuit; Prescott, St. Helens circuit; New Market, in the Middenhall circuit; Draycott, Derby circuit; Hartshorn, in the Ashley-de-la-Zouch circuit; Litchfield, in the Burton-on-Trent circuit; Barton, in the same circuit; Aycliffe, in the Darlington circuit; Redwark, in the Beaumaris circuit; Leith, in the Edinburgh circuit; and Welshpool.

Permission was given to erect 53 chapels; to enlarge 22 others; and to build 9 additional schools. Ten of these chapels will be without debt; and as to most of the others, the debts proposed to be left on them will be comparatively small. This will appear from the following sums to be expended when compared with the amounts to be raised:—To be expended on the erection of 53 chapels, about £37,000; to be raised towards meeting this expenditure, £25,000; the probable income from these erections annually, £1,675. This will be equal to about  $£18\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on the remaining debt.

So far the report is satisfactory. But it has to be observed, that 26 chapels have been erected during the year without leave obtained from the Chapel Building Committee, contrary to rule and general usage. The entire cost of these amounts to £9,943; and the total amount of debt remaining on them is £4,527. Many of these cases, without good management, will be likely to become embarrassed.

It was ascertained, that 28 cases had occurred in the course of the year, in which the expenditure had exceeded the stipulated agreement between the trustees and the committee; which excess amounted to £6088; occasioned chiefly by some change in the plan after the buildings had commenced, or additional accommodation which appeared desirable.

A strict adherence to the principles of architecture, combining beauty and convenience, was recommended. The introduction of organs into the smaller chapels has been carried to excess; while organists, and choirs of singers, add greatly to the expense. Provision for the poor was strongly recommended, one of the characteristics of most of the old chapels, being in harmony with the designs of God, "the poor have the gospel preached to them."

A plan was proposed for extinguishing all the debts on the chapels in Scotland; but as many objections were urged against it, the subject was referred to a sub-committee. Mr. Chadwick, of York, proposed that application should be made to the Legislature to grant, in the case of all erections of Wesleyan chapels, the same remission of the duties on timber, glass, bricks, &c., as is granted for the erection of churches and school-rooms in the establishment, which proposition was acceded to.

Another resolution was proposed, but ultimately referred to the Committee of Privileges, to the effect, that the same privilege should be sought to be obtained, by legal enactment, for the Wesleyans, as is enjoyed by the Church of England, of erecting places of worship on waste land, or land having a doubtful title, so as at once to convert such localities into freehold.

THE CONTINGENT FUND.

THE Contingent Fund is designed to meet those various contingent expenses, which are connected with the working out of the great system of an itinerant ministry in the United Kingdom, and so gives support and efficiency to the work of a Home Mission, by assisting the poorer circuits. In its existence and aid may be traced the formation and maintenance of many circuits, which have become influential, and are now supporting the ministry without its assistance.

This fund is sustained from three sources:—First, a grant from the profits of the Book-room; second, the yearly collections made in the classes; and third, the July collection made in the congregations.

For this fund alone, up to the end of 1847, the Wesleyan Methodists have raised the large sum of £408,699 16s. 6d. Its total income during the year has amounted to £6,722 3s. 3d.; being only £78 19s. 11d. less than the year preceding, notwithstanding the state of trade, and the partial employment of the people.

Various deficiencies were found to have occurred as compared with last year, the most conspicuous of which were to be met with in the Manchester and Leeds districts. Too large a portion of this fund is supposed to be expended on Wales, and it is the opinion of some of the members of the committee, that the more populous parts of the country, and the manufacturing districts especially, should receive a greater share of attention. A large portion of this fund is also swallowed up in providing lodgings for men newly married, for whom it is impossible to find furnished houses in any part of the Connexion. A recent regulation, however, has been made for the purpose of remedying this, viz., that of not allowing a circuit with eight hundred members in it to have an unmarried man; a rule, by the way, which, though necessary, is not found to work well in many parts of the Connexion; circuits having been compelled, in consequence of not being able to take a married man at once, to supply their necessities by means of hired local preachers, or town missionaries; and thus important districts have been left without their due complement of ministerial labour. In addition to other demands on this fund, large portions of it are likewise consumed in meeting what are mere contingencies (as its name implies), that is, the carriage of boxes, travelling expenses, occasional sickness of ministers, and the supplying of their places, &c.

What appears to be wanting is, a fund specifically appropriated to the spread of the gospel at home. In a word, home missionary operations—an aggressive movement on the unconverted masses of our countrymen, are the things most needed to give an impulse to Methodism. The existing ministry, as has been shown in the “WESLEYAN,” in one of the articles on “Wesley and Wesleyanism,” is already tasked to its utmost strength.

CHILDREN'S FUND.

THIS fund is designed to equalize, as nearly as possible, the support of the children of ministers in the several circuits. The balance, after the payment of all the claims for the current year, was reduced about £200.

PREACHERS' ANNUITANT SOCIETY.

THIS is not strictly a Connexional fund, but is supported by the ministers themselves, with the exception of a few donations and legacies from the private members of society. With the exception of a few of the junior brethren, the preachers are all members. Each minister subscribes a certain sum annually, and when he retires from the regular work, receives an annuity so long as he remains in the Connexion, according to the number of years he has subscribed and travelled. As this fund belongs only to its members, and the society itself is stamped with the character of a benefit society, it is unnecessary to bring it more immediately before the public,—none but Wesleyan ministers being deemed eligible as members.

THE AUXILIARY FUND.

THE Preachers' Annuitant Fund being inadequate to meet the wants of its members, when laid aside through age, infirmity, or sickness, and it being but an act of justice on the part of the people to supply the necessities and mitigate the sufferings of the men who have devoted their physical strength and best intellectual energies, to instruct them in, and impress them with, the great truths of the Christian Religion, the "Auxiliary Fund" is brought to its aid, and affords efficient help in time of need.

The supplies of this Fund are derived from two sources; first, contributions in the classes amounting to about sixpence each member annually; second, subscriptions from the more wealthy members of society made each year just before the Conference. The contribution in the classes has equalled any previous year;—a cheering proof that the poorer members of society are disposed to do their duty toward those venerable men under whose ministry many of them have received their spiritual good, but who now, after a life of labour, have retired into the rank of supernumeraries. The contributions, however, in the shape of annual subscriptions and donations, do not show a similar liberality. These are found to have declined in amount annually, ever since the contributions in the classes commenced.

At the Conference of 1847, the Treasurer was in advance about £1,000; and this debt has increased during the year to £2,000. It is hoped, however, that it will not be necessary to diminish the allowance to aged ministers and widows.

Apart from the provision which is made by this fund for supernumeraries and widows, another of its objects is to meet and relieve cases of sickness and affliction when they occur to those who are not in the regular work of the ministry. These instances of relief are decided upon by a committee, which committee sits with closed doors, and is strictly private.

SHIP COMMITTEE.

ON winding up the affairs of the ship Triton, it appeared, after settling the accounts, that there remained a final balance in favour of the Missionary Society, of £4,138 4s. 2d.; deducting the freight and passage money of the John Wesley, (£2,076 5s.), and adding to it the balance of gain by the Triton, the new Missionary ship has only cost the society £993 9s. 3d. During eight years that the Triton was employed, no life was lost, and no serious disaster occurred. Letters from the Rev. W. Lawry and Capt. Buck, go to show the excellency of the new vessel, and her adaptation for the service. These letters also refute the statements respecting the alleged quantity of spirits taken out on board the John Wesley; Mr. Irving also stating, that the brandy on board was only a proper allowance for medicinal purposes at each station; and that the rum (thirty-six gallons only), he had been obliged to take out of bond with the brandy, agreeably to Custom House regulations, and it was sold by his directions. This committee, though connected with the Missions, is thus noticed separately, with a view to give that degree of prominence to it which its importance demands.

TO FIND THE TIME OF SUNRISE.

To find the time of sunrise and sunset from any place in Great Britain or Ireland, find the latitude of the place, which any guide book, history, or map will give; and for every degree higher than 51 deg. 32 min. subtract from the time of sunrise, and add, to the time of sunset, 6 minutes, and so in proportion; and for every degree below 51 deg. 32 min. subtract from the time of sunrise, and add, to the time of sunrise, 5 minutes.

WESLEYAN MISSIONS.

THESE MISSIONS are established in various parts of Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, including the West Indian, Polynesian, and Australasian Islands.

They are under the general direction of the Wesleyan-Methodist Conference; but are immediately conducted by a Committee of fifty Ministers and Gentlemen, whose Meetings are held at the Mission-House, Bishopsgate-Street-Within, London.

The total receipts for the year have been £103,619 1s. 9d., and the expenditure £114,606 17s. 6d.

The sum of £592 4s. has been contributed towards a mission to China. This has been invested in the Funds till further contributions are made towards this important object.

The cause has sustained immense loss by the Caffre war ; no less than £3,000 in the destruction of chapels alone. The island of Tobago has also suffered, having been desolated by a hurricane—involving the Mission houses and chapels in the common ruin. The other Missions in the West Indies, and especially those in the island of Jamaica, have likewise been unusually burthensome to the funds.

Early in the year 1847, the public at large, and the Wesleyans in particular, were called upon to make large contributions for their famishing fellow-subjects in Ireland, as well as for the relief of the poor at home. This circumstance, together with the general depression of commercial interests throughout the year, led the Committee to anticipate a deficiency ; the falling-off in the income of the home districts was to the amount of £10,015 5s. 10d ; in Ireland, £1,533 17s. 1d. ; in the Foreign districts, it is encouraging to record, there was only a diminution of £164 10s. ; in the important item of legacies, the Treasurers of the Society received 4,025 16s. 8d. less in 1847 than in the previous year. From this statement it will appear that the ultimate deficiency would have been much larger, but for the balance of the income of the previous year, of £5,993 6s. 5d. and the receipt of about £4,130 1s. 5d. in the items of advances to stations, repaid, and lapsed donations on annuity.

The number of vacancies to be supplied in the mission field were 22 ; 29 additional missionaries were asked for in stations already occupied ; and 16 were solicited for new stations—in all 67.

Some objections having been made to the expenditure at home, explanations were given ; and that on the item of printing was as follows :—The number of Annual Reports was 21,000, of more than 300 pages, which, at 1s. 6d., amounted to £1,575. These were required, as few were now left at the Mission House, and they could hardly make up a perfect set. Of the Monthly Notices, 45,000 were printed ; 540,000 in a year, at a cost of £2,250. The number of the Juvenile Offering was 480,000, at £20 a thousand, leaving, after deducting for sales, a balance of £300. The Quarterly papers, 500,000, cost £800 ; 100,000 of the General View, £100 ; and 100,000 missionary Boxes, 4d. each. There were also the papers for the Juvenile Christmas and New Year's offerings. Contributions, it was remarked, could not be expected without information, and there was no other object but that of communicating information as extensively as possible.

IMPORTANCE OF WESLEYAN METHODISM.

We copy the following article from THE WESLEYAN newspaper, of Feb. 3, 1848, for which it was prepared, from data of 1839. It will be read with interest :—

“ Looking at Methodism in the amplitude of its machinery, a kind of bewildering feeling comes over us, and ceases not to possess us, till we take in pieces the several parts, and perceive the adaptation of one part to another, and the exquisite skill with which the whole, generally speaking, has been put together. We have seen that, despite of every opposing influence, it has not only been preserved in motion, but in useful operations ; and should it continue to act with energy and regularity, we shall see the work of God, under that particular designation, spread not only to the four quarters of the globe, as it has already done, but enter every isle, and every nook, till, in conjunction with other means, employed by other Christian communities, the last intelligent being born into the world shall feel the regenerating influence of divine grace.

The multifarious character of the OFFICIALS of Wesleyan Methodism is what has long attracted the attention of the Christian world ; and not a few who have admired this part of the system, have either been placed in circumstances of non-eligibility to adopt it, or found themselves not sufficiently low to stoop to it. In either case, they have been left to struggle with a work too mighty for individual enterprise. Every talent is held in requisition ; every man, of every ordinary capacity, may find employment. Methodism, to particularise, has its ministers, travelling and local, who act, not only upon the people of their charge, but on the world ; bringing, by unceasing labour, their various energies to bear on the general diffusion of hallowed light and feeling, and the universal spread of righteousness, as the grand object of their ministrations. Besides these, it has its leaders of classes and conductors of prayer-meetings, constantly employing their combined efforts to kindle and preserve alive, as on the Jewish altar in the temple, the internal fires of the Church, by fanning the flame of love in the heart. There are also the stewards of the several circuits and societies, the trustees of the different chapels, and the treasurers and secretaries of the respective funds, whose business it is, while others are attending to the spiritual concerns of the church, to see that no means are lacking, for the purpose of carrying on, and carrying out, the great designs of Jesus Christ in the world, in the full, speedy, and final establishment of the empire of truth and holiness. To these may be added, a host of travelling agents, collectors, and others, who are found at every point, and labouring in every possible variety of way, to preserve the machine in full and perpetual exercise.

A glance at the Missionary apparatus of the Wesleyans—stretching into regions so remote and various—embracing so vast a portion of the world's population, with all its ignorance, wickedness, and misery, and maintaining so firm a hold of public opinion in its favour, in consequence of its peculiar adaptation to the state and wants of mankind, and the more than ordinary success attendant on it, cannot, in these respects, but place it in an elevated position among kindred institutions. But here we stay not at present to particularise.

The Schools, too, may be considered as taking a prominent stand among the more useful operations of the Wesleyan body. We include, of course, both Sabbath and day-schools, and those on the Mission Stations, as well as those at home. In 1839, when Methodism had attained the hundredth year of its age, there were under tuition, in round numbers, 400,000 children in Great Britain ; in Ireland, 60,000 ; on the Mission Stations, 56,000 ; in Upper Canada, 15,000 ; in the United States, 469,000 : making a total of 1,000,000. Since that period the number, has greatly increased—say one-third ; in that case, the Wesleyan body, with its off-shoots, will be found to have upwards of one million and a quarter of the youth of both sexes under its care. These are receiving, not only rudimental knowledge, but much of that which will conduct them into the paths of science, as well as the higher walks of literature.

From the Sabbath and Day schools for the children of the poor, we turn to those institutions of a more elevated character established in the body, and in vigorous operation, as the schools at Kingswood and Woodhousegrove, for the education of the sons of the preachers ; those at Sheffield and Taunton, for the education of the children of the more opulent members of society ; and the Theological Institutions at Richmond and Didsbury, in which science is taught, so far as it stands connected with the Christian ministry, but especially theology, in all its important bearings on the ministration of the word and ordinances of God—thoroughly inculcated and pressed home upon the conscience of every ministerial candidate. These, if any part of the Wesleyan economy demands attention, are entitled to the most vigilant and unceasing care.

Passing from the schools to the Members of Society, we embrace a wider range of thought. At the death of Mr. Wesley, in 1791, the number of members in Great Britain and Ireland amounted to 72,467; and in America, to 64,146; making a total of 136,622 in the world. In 1811, the numbers throughout the globe were augmented to 357,190; in 1821, to 509,451; in 1831, to 801,680; 1841, to 1,302,127; and at present to 1,503,252. To descend into particulars, and to confine our remarks on the numerical progress of Methodism to the close of its centenary, in 1839, we shall be the better able to see its influence on society at large; and here, though our more minute calculations may not, in every instance, correspond with the round numbers just told out, they will be sufficient, not only to excite surprise, but also to awaken gratitude. At the period referred to, 1839, which is not an improper one for balancing accounts, the number in society, in the United Kingdom, amounted to 333,451. In addition to these, we must include other religious bodies seceding from the parent stock, as the Methodist New Connexion, the Primitive Methodists, the Protestant Methodists, the Wesleyan Association, &c., amounting to at least 130,000. Among the latter are to be found various minor divisions, affecting only particular towns or districts, and at different periods—as the followers of George Bell; of Mr. Edwards, Leeds; of John Thorp, Rotherham; of Dr. C. Bailey, Manchester; together with the “Band Room” party in that town; of Messrs. T. Bryant and M’Nab, Sheffield; Mr. Cook, Rochdale; Mr. Peacock, Bristol; Mr. Atley, Dewsbury, &c., &c., &c. The Brianites, or “Bible Christians” in the West of England, may also be named, amounting to 12,000 or 14,000. The parent stock, and the numerous branches, might then be calculated to amount, in the United Kingdom, to not less than 480,000 members. Persons attending the Methodist ministry, but not united to the body, are generally estimated at double the number of members; so that the attendance altogether on the ministry of the Wesleyans, in the three kingdoms, could not be less than 1,440,000. The regular preachers, supported by the voluntary contributions of the people, might be calculated to amount to upwards of 2,000, among the various sections of the Methodist body. In the same sections, there were not less than 18,000 local preachers, half of whom would generally be employed every Sabbath. To go abroad, Methodism had long existed in the West Indies, where it numbered 42,928 members. It also existed, as it does now, in Continental India, in Ceylon, New South Wales, Van Diemen’s Land, the Friendly Islands, Upper and Lower Canada, Africa, Germany, France, Sweden, the Zetland Isles, &c. The total number of members then under the care of foreign missionaries and the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Upper Canada, amounted to nearly 86,000; and the number of preachers employed at the various foreign missionary stations, including Canada, would amount to at least 400. But in no part of the world has Methodism spread so rapidly as in the United States of America. The preachers employed in 1837, were 2,933; and the number of members in 1839, was 992,341, the work itself having only commenced in 1767. This, of course, refers to the Wesleyan Connexion in America, called the “Methodist Episcopal Church.” In addition to these, there were, in 1833, about 200 ministers, and 30,000 members, belonging to a seceding body, denominated the “Methodist Protestant Church.” The total number of members, therefore, belonging to the various sections of the Methodist body in the United Kingdom, America, and other parts of the world, amounted to 1,423,000; the hearers of the Methodist ministry, to about 4,272,000. According to the statistical account of the increase of Christians in the world, there were in—

The first century . . . . .	500,000 Christians
The tenth century . . . . .	50,000,000 „
The eighteenth century . . . . .	250,000,000 „
The nineteenth century . . . . .	260,000,000 „

If this statement is to be relied on, Methodism spread more rapidly during its first century, than Christianity in the course of its first hundred years;—Christianity numbering only 500,000, and Methodism 1,423,000—nearly three times the amount, exclusive of 2,149,000 hearers, otherwise nominal Christians; making in all, some way or other, 4,272,000 connected with Methodism. Since then, there has been a considerable accession of members to the body, and hearers of the ministry.

With the worshippers, the places of worship naturally associate themselves. There were, in 1839, in Great Britain, 3,232 chapels; in Ireland, 343; in the Mission Stations, 723; in Upper Canada, 188; in the United States of America, 4,616; making a total of 9,102. Besides these, there were places in which the Christian ministry was exercised, of one kind or another, in Great Britain, 4,040; in Ireland 392; on the Mission Stations, 1,446; in Upper Canada, 282; and in America, 6,924; making in preaching places, among the Wesleyans throughout the world, at the time specified, 22,186. Admitting the 6,102 to have cost, one with another—which is far below the average mark, only £300 a-piece, the amount would be nearly three millions sterling! As to the prices, or probable cost of school property, this, like that of the chapels, cannot be fairly estimated; but the two combined, including the residences of the preachers, with the furniture, must come to an amazing sum of money—the whole having been raised by a comparatively poor people, on the voluntary principle—a principle which, we are thankful to find, is gaining ground, and on which Methodism must still stand, as by it she has hitherto been able to advance and hold up her head.

This naturally leads us to the wonderful system of finance observed in the body. Methodism commenced a new era in the form of religious givings. Mr. Wesley remarks, in his Journal, that while at Bristol, in 1742, and conversing with others on a widely different subject, the penny-a-week system was proposed by a member. It was at first the subject of ridicule; but Dr. Priestly had the sagacity to perceive, and the candour to say, when attempts were made to put down Methodism, “You can never stop Methodism while John Wesley maintains his penny a week.” The plan has been adopted by Bible Societies, by Missionary Societies, and by Religious Tract Societies. It has been adopted even by the Church of Rome, on the Continent, where a fund was established, some time back, for the purpose, forsooth, from small givings, of bringing England back to all the monstrosities of Popery! The plan has been lauded by bishops, and by the nobility—by both clergy and laity. Common-sense teaches us that the largest armies are composed of individuals; that the ocean is composed of drops; that the globe itself is composed of particles; that pennies make shillings; that shillings give rise to pounds; that pounds make hundreds, and hundreds swell to thousands; that the pennies of the poor, dropping, dropping, dropping into the Christian treasury, will, like a mighty torrent—by sending the gospel through the earth—sweep, fertilize, and purify the moral world.

Independent of the Connexional Funds, which are not only large but numerous, there are various others of a benevolent and beneficial character, connected with different circuits and societies. But to confine our remarks to those of a connexional character, the contributions of the body to the home and foreign work, cannot, through all its complicated ramifications and bearings, be taken, on a rough calculation, at less than half a million of money annually; and double that amount, if the Continent of America is taken in connexion with Great Britain and Ireland. Viewed thus, what an influence does Methodism exercise on the interests of society, and on the world at large! Such annual expenditure, to preserve the machinery in constant motion, appears somewhat startling at first. But the following calculations, made the year before the grand centenary, in 1839, on the collections, probable and actual, will show that the conjecture is far from originating in empty parade; that it accords with matter of fact:—

1. In support of Missions, at home and abroad . . . . .	97,225	15	5
2. Yearly Collection at home. . . . .	6,617	0	0
3. Kingswood and Woodhouse Grove Schools, from the Circuits, including donations . . . . .	8,652	2	2
4. Chapel Fund . . . . .	4,000	0	0
5. July Collection . . . . .	3,693	0	0
6. Theological Institution . . . . .	1,747	6	5
7. Preachers' Auxiliary Fund, for England and Scotland . . . . .	3,507	6	0
8. Average Board of 883 English and Scotch Preachers—say 15s. per week . . . . .	34,437	0	0
9. Children of—say 660 families, averaging four to the family, on 387 circuits, which will be a sufficient allowance for preachers on trial, £6 per annum each . . . . .	15,840	0	0
10. Houses for 660 Preachers, at £30 per annum, including coals, taxes, candles, wear and tear of furniture, linen, &c., &c. (allowing only £5 for coals, £2 for candles, and £2 for letters and stationery . . . . .	19,800	0	0
11. Travelling expenses in horse, coach-hire, &c., for—say 387 circuits, paid at the Quarterly Board (supposing 100 circuit horses, at £20 each, and 287 at £10 each, . . . . .	4,870	0	0
12. Sunday Schools, containing—say 400,000 children; and allowing 100 children on the average for each, will make 4,000 Schools, books, rent, &c., for each School, £10 . . . . .	40,000	0	0
13. Pew Rent, in—say 2,322 Chapels, in England, Scotland, and Wales, allowing six chapels to a circuit, and two regular hearers for one member, which will make 999,353 hearers. Deduct from the 999,353 hearers one-third for free seats, and then the 666,236 left, averaging the seats at 6s. per annum, will yield . . . . .	199,870	16	0
14. Lovefeast and Sacramental Collections in 2,322 Chapels, averaging 10s. each—say six times in the year . . . . .	6,966	0	0
15. Dorcas and Benevolent Societies—supposing in only 1,000 Chapels at £6 per annum each . . . . .	6,000	0	0
16. Chapel Keepers, Lighting, Cleaning, Repairs, &c., paid out of the monthly collection—say £20 per annum, for 1,000 Chapels . . . . .	20,000	0	0
Total for one year, simply to keep the machinery at work . . . . .	£473,226	6	0

Admitting the 999,353 hearers and members in Great Britain to produce (the hearers, by the way, giving but an inconsiderable portion of it—though full as much as there is just reason to expect) the sum of £473,226 6s., then, on a fair calculation, the 4,272,000 persons throughout the world, connected with Methodism, either as hearers or members, more nearly or more remotely, will produce about £2,022,933 per annum.

A few general remarks on the preceding calculations may be necessary; and we observe, that Ireland is not included in several of the items, though it may be seen from what is done in England—the system being the same—what is done elsewhere; that there is no notice of the erection or enlargement of chapels; that the preachers' quarterage, medical attendance, &c., are omitted; that many of the calculations are below the actual amount; that the Methodists, though liberal, are poor in the bulk; that, in addition to their other givings, they support the Establishment and Institutions of the country, as well as display great benevolence in private charities; that for the year 1839, the centenary contributions are considered extra—a free-will offering, amounting to £215,000—making, when added to the £473,226 6s., the total for one year of £688,226 6s., nearly the one-half of which centenary contributions were paid before the Conference of 1839; that as it is principally in seat-rents, in the monthly collections, &c., that the aid of the hearers is felt, we may calculate on at least two-thirds of the said sum of £473,226 6s. being contributed by the members of society; and that the two-thirds of the said sum of £473,226 6s., divided among the 333,451 members, in England, Scotland, and Ireland, as the members stood in 1839, only averages about nineteen shillings some odd pence per head—being, for one whole year's givings, considerably less than one week's wages of many a mechanic. Much, therefore, as Methodism has been libelled on account of its beggings, cravings, and extortions, it is, upon the whole, one of the cheapest systems of religion—yielding to the poorest of the poor, in lieu of what they give—INTERNAL QUIET—DOMESTIC COMFORT—HABITS OF INDUSTRY—A DISPOSITION TO ECONOMISE—AND MANY OPPORTUNITIES OF USEFULNESS.

METHODIST NEW CONNEXION.

THE last Conference of this body, the oldest of the off-shoots of Wesleyan Methodism, was held at Liverpool, on the 12th of June, 1848. Originally, this branch of the Methodistic family was known as Kilhamites, from the name of their founder, ALEXANDER KILHAM. For the present year JAMES HENSHAW is President, and JOSIAH BATES, Secretary, of the Conference.

We gather from "The Minutes of Conference" the following statistics:—
The Society has—

Chapels, in—	England, 273	Ireland, 15	Canada, 39	Total, 327
Preaching Stations	„ 287	„ 122	„ 328	„ 737
Ministers	„ 82	„ 11	„ 41	„ 134
Local Preachers	„ 334	„ 14	„ 63	„ 611
Members	„ 15,562	„ 806	„ 3374	19,742
Sabbath Schools	„ 245	„ 9	„ 31	„ 285
Sab. S. Teachers	„ 7,038	„ 92	„ —	„ 7,130
Sabbath Scholars	„ 38,361	„ 680	„ —	39,041

The return of members showed an increase of 452 over that of the previous year; namely, 200 of that increase being in Canada, and the rest in England principally in Lancashire, we believe. There was also an increase of 668 teachers and 4,034 scholars in the schools of the Connexion. One Preacher had died during the year, the Rev. Jonathan Tate; and thirteen remain on trial, including four taken on trial this year.

The Funds of the Connexion for the present year are as follows:—Yearly Collection, £1,835 18s. 1½d.; Paternal Fund, £1,716 0s. 8¾d.; Beneficent Fund, £2,850 17s. 10¼d.; Mission Fund, £2,530 6s. 6d.; Chapel Fund, £2,295 5s. 3½d.; Jubilee Fund, £1,567 14s. 4½d.; Book Room Account, £2,110 12s. 10d. The former of these Funds is applied to the relief of poor circuits, the second to the support of preacher's children, the third to the relief of old or necessitous preachers. The others indicate in their name their respective objects, with the exception of the last, which is a special effort for special objects.

The Connexion publishes two Magazines, at their Book Room, in London both monthly, one at 6d., the other, for children, at 1d. Mr. COOKE is the Editor, and Mr. BAKEWELL, the Book-Steward.

The next Conference of this Connexion will be held at Dudley, on Whit Monday, May 28th, 1849.

The Missionary operations of the Body are confined to Ireland and Canada, where, it will be seen above, fifty-two missionaries are labouring. The following are the

WESLEYAN METHODIST ASSOCIATION.

The Thirteenth Annual Conference of this body was held in Manchester, in July. From the published minutes, we learn that this society has 69 circuits and 8 mission stations; 96 itinerant preachers and missionaries; 986 local preachers; 1357 leaders; 20,775 members, and 1308 on trial; 322 chapels, and 209 preaching places; 330 Sunday-schools; 42,032 Sunday scholars, and 6162 Sunday-school Teachers. The increase of members in the year was, after deducting deaths and removals, 670. From the Book-room in London, are issued a hymn book, and one or two magazines. The editor is the Rev. Robert Eckett. The society has home missions in Wales and Ireland; and foreign stations at Hamburgh, Jamaica, and Wisconsin. The next conference will be at Liverpool, on the 25th July, 1849. The President is the Rev. Henry Breeden, the Rev. R. Eckett is the secretary. The following are the

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

The most accurate estimate we can find of the Established Church of England, was furnished by Mr. Horsman in his speech during the last session. He says, that there are 13,154 churches and chapels, and 16,000 clergymen. A parliamentary paper just issued (ordered on the motion of Mr. Hume) contains some interesting statistics, taken from the diocesan returns of 1847. The total number of benefices in England and Wales is stated to be 11,386. The total number of resident incumbents is only 7,445; but the number of non-residents who perform the duty of their parish, is 1,177: making together, 8,622. Of 2,048 serving benefices on which the incumbents are non-resident, 976 live in the glebe-houses and 350 within the parish. These may, therefore, be fairly added to the resident clergy. The non-resident clergy are of three classes.

Non-resident and exempt	1,635
Licensed to be non-resident	781
Non-resident without license or exemption	950
	—3366

Besides these, under the head of "Miscellaneous Cases," there are—

Sequestrations and suspensions	43
Vacancies and recent institutions	200
No returns	332
	—575

No fewer than 3,941 out of 11,386! Deducting the 1,326 resident curates serving benefices on which the incumbents are non-resident, there are upwards of 2,800 parishes without a resident clergyman! Many of the parishes are exceedingly small, comprising a mere handful of persons—in some instances, as few as twelve or six in the whole parish; but the tithes of such parishes are not always inconsiderable.

The following may claim to be considered as the working clergy:—

Resident Incumbents	7,445
Non-resident, performing the duty of their parish	1,177
Curates serving benefices on which the incumbents are non-resident	2,048
Assistant curates to resident incumbents	2,642

That is, 8,622 incumbents and 4,650 stipendaries, the stipend varying from £10 per annum to £310, giving an average much below that of the incomes of ministers supported by the voluntary contributions of their people.

These returns of incumbents of benefices and curates do not, however, give the whole of the clergy, as the ministers of proprietary and licensed Episcopal chapels are not included in them. They must count by thousands. The number of the clergy deriving their support from pew-rents, or public contributions, we have no means of ascertaining; but it must be very considerable, and would, probably, if added to that of the stipendiary clergy, very nearly balance the number of the resident and working incumbents of benefices.

Taking the number of working clergy at the highest estimate, they will not be found to form a majority of the actual religious teachers of the people. We say nothing now as to the 'quality' of the instruction; nor will we institute any comparison between the minimum of personal efficiency in the Methodist local preacher, and in the well-paid clerical functionary of either the High-and-dry or the Tractarian School. We simply call attention to the fact, that the aggregate number of Dissenting and Methodist ministers and teachers if we include the local preachers, exceeds that of the Established clergy.

COMPARATIVE NUMBER OF CHURCHES AND DISSENTING CHAPELS.

The following table of Nonconformist places of worship in England and Wales, has been compiled with care from the official publications of nearly all the religious bodies mentioned for the year 1847 :—

NONCONFORMIST CHAPELS IN ENGLAND.

Wesleyan Methodist . . . . .	3,000	Unitarian . . . . .	220
Independent . . . . .	1,800	Orthodox Presbyterian . . . . .	147
Baptist . . . . .	1,435	Lady Huntingdon's . . . . .	30
Primitive Methodist . . . . .	1,421	Inghamites, New Jerusalem
Roman Catholic . . . . .	540	Church, and various (esti-
Bible Christian . . . . .	391	mated) . . . . .	500
Quaker . . . . .	346
Methodist New Connexion . . . . .	277	Total . . . . .	10,423
Wesleyan Association . . . . .	316

NONCONFORMIST CHAPELS IN WALES.

Calvinistic Methodist . . . . .	759	Wesleyan Association . . . . .	6
Independent . . . . .	640	Primitive Methodist . . . . .	12
Wesleyan . . . . .	469	Various minor sects (supposed)	80
Baptist . . . . .	312
Unitarian . . . . .	30	Total . . . . .	2,317
Quaker . . . . .	9

SUMMARY.

Chapels in England . . . . .	10,423
Ditto in Wales . . . . .	2,317
Total . . . . .	12,740

Besides the above, there are many preaching places. For example—The Primitive Methodists, in their annual report, say that the 1,421 chapels mentioned above, are "Connexional Chapels," in addition to which they have 3,340 "rented chapels." The Wesleyan Association also mention 215 "preaching-places, rooms," &c. The Wesleyans, Independents, Baptists, Quakers, and perhaps all the other bodies, have also preaching-rooms and stations, in addition to the chapels enumerated.

The comparison may be summarily stated thus :—

Churches and Chapels of the Establishment . . . . .	13,154
Chapels of Dissenters . . . . .	12,740

Majority for the Church . . . . .	414

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

The Union of Congregational Churches and Ministers throughout England and Wales is founded on a full recognition of their own distinctive principle, namely, the scriptural right of every separate Church to maintain perfect independence in the government and administration of its own particular affairs; and therefore that the Union shall not, in any case, assume legislative authority, or become a court of appeal.

The Union consists of Associations of Congregational Churches and of individual Churches severally adhering to the Union. The qualification of a Church for membership in the Union, is connection with an association; or, where no Association is accessible, recommendation by the three ministers already in the Union, residing nearest to the applicant Church.

The objects contemplated in its formation are:—

1. To promote Evangelical religion in connection with the Congregational Denomination.
2. To cultivate brotherly affection and sincere co-operation in everything relating to the interests of the associated Churches.
3. To establish fraternal correspondence with Congregational Churches, and other bodies of Christians, throughout the world.
4. To address an annual or occasional Letter to the Associated Churches, accompanied with such information as may be deemed necessary.
5. To obtain accurate statistical information relative to the Congregational Churches throughout the kingdom, and the whole world at large.
6. To inquire into the present methods of collecting funds for the erection of places of worship, and to consider the practicability of introducing any improved plan.
7. To assist in maintaining and enlarging the civil rights of Protestant Dissenters.

The BRITISH MISSIONS under the direction of the Congregational Union, include the Home Missionary Society, the Irish Evangelical Society, and the Colonial Missionary Society.

The Union publishes a Hymn-book, the profits arising from the sale of which are applied to the general purposes of the Union; also the Christian Witness, and Christian's Penny Magazine (both monthly), the profits of which are applied to the relief of aged ministers.

Two meetings of the Union are held annually; one in London during the month of May, the other in Autumn, at such place as may be agreed upon.

BOARD OF CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS.

This Association was formed in 1727; it takes "cognizance of everything affecting the interests of the Congregational denomination, and of religion in general." At the present time it comprises 139 Members:—viz., Stated Pastors, 106; Retired Pastors, 21; Tutors and Professors, 7; Secretaries, 5. The ordinary business of the Board is transacted at monthly meetings, held in the Congregational Library, Bloomfield-street, Bishopsgate, on the Tuesday after the second Lord's day, and an Annual Meeting in the month of March.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN ENGLAND.

This organization comprises chiefly those Presbyterian pastors and congregations in this country which were formerly connected with the Scottish Establishment, but adhered to the opinions, and approved of the proceedings of the "Free Church." It is divided into six Presbyteries; namely, Lancashire, 18 Churches; London, 16; Newcastle, 11; Berwick, 8; Northumberland, 7; making a total of 77 Churches in one general Synod. They have Home and Foreign Missions, and College and School Funds, which in 1846 cost £3,461 13s 9d. The "English Presbyterian College" is held in London, and has about eighteen students, under the tutorship of the Rev. Messrs. Hamilton, Lorimer, and Campbell.

SOCIETY OF FRIENDS.

In Great Britain and Ireland there are about 20,000 members. In North America the total number amounts to about 80,000. There are two very small communities in Germany, viz., at Minden and Pyrmont; and a few little meetings in the South of France, at Nismes, and in other places in the department of Gard. There are also a few Friends in and about Stavanger in Norway; and at Hobart Town, Adelaide, and Sydney, small meetings have been established. The affairs of the society, including its Christian discipline, care of the poor, and other matters, are transacted at the Monthly Meetings of the members. Several of these constitute a Quarterly Meeting; and again the union of a sufficient number of Quarterly Meetings is effected by means of a Yearly Meeting. Of these last mentioned assemblies, there is one in London, and one at Dublin; there are seven on the American Continent, of which Philadelphia is the oldest, and Indiana the most recent and the most populous.

THE UNITED BRETHREN, OR MORAVIANS.

The number of communicant members in this religious body in Great Britain does not exceed 2,800; about one in twenty-five of their most active and talented members being set forth into their extensive mission-field in various quarters of the globe. The Moravians have congregations in the following places:—ENGLAND—Fetter-lane, London; Woodford; Bedford; Kimbolton; Pertinhal; Bath; Bristol; Brookwear; Devonport; Haverfordwest; Leominster; Malmesbury; Tytherton; Ockbrooke; Fairfield; Dukinfield; Fulneck; Gomersall; Mirfield; Wyke; Baildon; Horton. SCOTLAND—Ayr. IRELAND—Dublin; Gracehill; Kilkeel; Cootehill; Kilwarlin; Gracefield; Ballinderry.

The MISSIONS OF THE UNITED BRETHREN, OR MORAVIANS, were commenced in 1732. Their first efforts were directed to the Negroes in the island of St. Thomas, in that and the other two Danish islands of St. Croix and St. Jan, there are now labouring 42 Missionaries, who have under instruction 9,570 Negroes. In Jamaica (begun in 1754) there are now 35 Missionaries instructing 13,782 Negroes. In Antigua (1756) 10,022 Negroes under the care of 27 Missionaries. In St. Kitt's (1775) 10 Missionaries, and 4,564 Negroes. In Barbadoes (1765) 10 Missionaries, and 3,911 Negroes. In Tobago (1790) 6 Missionaries and 1,243 Negroes. The mission to the Greenlanders was commenced in 1733; there are now 1,878 persons receiving instruction from 24 Missionaries. In 1770, the Brethren went to Labrador, where 30 Missionaries are now instructing 1,167 Esquimaux. In North America (begun 1734), 10 Missionaries have under their care 414 Delawares and Cherokees. In South America, Surinam (begun 1735), 41 Missionaries labour among 11,422 Negroes. Total, 282 Missionary Brethren and Sisters, and 64,268 converts.

THE BAPTIST DENOMINATION.

The number of Baptist churches in 1848 was estimated at one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one. Of these, 1092 churches are united in thirty-nine County, District, or National Associations. The gross number of members in 769 churches is stated to be 84,262, being an average of 109 members in each. There are, besides, 783 village stations, and 92,034 Sunday-scholars, with 11,548 teachers.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTIONS.—These are established at Accrington, Bristol, Haverfordwest, Horton, Leicester, Pontypool, and Stepney,—besides a Theological Society. In these institutions about 100 young men are educated for the work of the ministry. Their united income amounted in 1847 to £5,965 9s. 3d.; and their expenditure to £5,773 8s. 1d.

BAPTIST PERIODICALS.—The Baptist Manual (annual); and monthly, the Baptist Magazine, Baptist Reporter, Baptist Record, Baptist Repository, Primitive Church, Juvenile Missionary Herald, &c.

THE DISSENTING DEPUTIES.

This Association was formed in 1732. It consists of lay representatives from congregations of Protestant Dissenters of the three denominations—Presbyterian, Independent, and Baptist, in and within twelve miles of London. Their object is the protection of the civil rights of Protestant Dissenters. Their mode of operation is, addresses to the Crown, petitions to Parliament, memorials to Government, the publication of resolutions and addresses; by affording legal advice, and by obtaining the judgments of the Courts of Law concerning the civil rights of Protestant Dissenters. The Deputies meet twice a year, at Midsummer and Christmas, besides having occasional special meetings.

WESLEYAN UNION OF TOTAL ABSTAINERS.

This society originated at Liverpool in 1846. It is composed of Wesleyan Methodists only, and its object is, to secure cordial union among the servants of God, for the following important purposes:—

- I. Prayer for the spread of true Temperance principles.
- II. The obtaining and diffusing information on Teetotalism as connected with Religion.
- III. To remove the objection which many professors of religion make against uniting with such persons as generally compose Temperance Societies.
- IV. The calling the serious attention of Christians to the important duty of adding their influence to the efforts now being made to arrest the progress of intemperance.
- V. To show how much more efficiently, firmly, and perseveringly Christians will advance the cause of Teetotalism, than those who advocate it exclusively on worldly principles.

Societies in connexion with the present institution have been established in many places, principally through the instrumentality of Thomas Richardson, Esq., B.A., of Liverpool, whose efforts have been most persevering. The society, by confining its membership to Wesleyans, does not intend any slight or disparagement of other denominations of Christians, but hopes that its example may be followed, and that many other societies will be founded on the same principles.

SCOTLAND.

THE ESTABLISHED CHURCH OF SCOTLAND—Comprehends 1160 congregations, including quoad sacra and Parliamentary churches; and employs Missionaries in India and to the Jews, together with several Catechists and native Agents. The periodical which represents the principles of the Established Church of Scotland is Macphail's Edinburgh Magazine, published monthly

THE FREE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND—Comprehends 850 congregations. It supports Missionaries in India, South Africa, Caffre-land, to the Jews, several in the Colonies, besides a large number of Catechists, Scripture Readers, and Teachers. It has a College for the education of those studying for the ministry. The following sums were raised during the year ending 31st March, 1847:—Sustentation Fund, £82,166; Building Fund, £46,698; Congregational Fund, £78,217; Missions and Education, £68,357; Miscellaneous, £36,256; making a total of £311,695.

The periodicals issued under its sanction are:—The Home and Foreign Missionary Record, the Children's Missionary Record, and the Monthly Statement. The following advocate the views of the Free Church:—The Free Church Magazine, Lowe's Edinburgh Magazine, the Witness, twice a week newspaper; all published at Edinburgh.

THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—(Formerly the United Associate Synod and Relief Church)—comprehends 518 congregations, and supports Missionaries in Canada, West Indies, Old Calabar, Africa (together with Catechists, Artizans, and a Missionary ship), in Caffraria, Persia, and Australia. It has a Theological Hall for the training of its rising ministry. Cheltenham Training Schools—Established in 1845, for the instruction of masters and mistresses upon principles conformable with the liturgy of the Church of England. The association has received £6,500, including a grant of £3,000 from the Educational Committee of Council; but £2,500 more is required for the erection of the proposed schools.

Baptist Missionary Society.—This society was founded in 1792. It has agents in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America. From a recent report, it appears that the income of the society for the current year was £26,398 18s. 9d. The missionaries of this society have printed, in whole or in part, from 1801 to 1847, 743,270 copies of the Bible. It has at present 249 stations, 100 missionaries, 163 native preachers and teachers, and 151 day schools.

British and Foreign Bible Society.—Established in 1804. The object of the society is, exclusively, to promote the circulation of the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment, both at home and abroad. By a fundamental law of the society, the copies circulated in the languages of the United Kingdom are to be those of the authorised version alone. Its proceedings are conducted by a committee, consisting of thirty-six laymen, six of whom are foreigners, residing in or near London. Half of the remainder are members of the Church of England, and the other half members of other denominations of Christians. Its auxiliary societies, branch societies, and associations, extend to every quarter of the globe. During the forty years the society has existed, it has circulated more than 20,000 copies of the Scriptures, and expended above £3,000,000 sterling. The receipts of the society, in 1846-7, were £117,440, 9s. 3d.

Church of England Sunday-school Institute.—This Institute has been in existence four years. Its objects are, to promote union amongst teachers to collect and communicate useful Sunday-school information, to obtain and record statistical details, and to assist and establish Sunday-schools, in connexion with the Church of England. Income £227 13s. 5d.

Church of England Young Men's Society.—This society was instituted in 1844, for the purpose of calling forth the energies of young men with respect to missions. Its funds are equally divided between four evangelical Church of England Societies, which respectively represent missions at home, to the colonies, to the Jews, and to the Heathen and Mahometan world. Income, £329 2s. 11d.

Church Missionary Society.—This society was established in 1800. It is conducted in strict conformity with the constitution and practice of the Church of England, and its missionaries are under the superintendence of the bishop of the diocese where they are placed. The society has stations in West and East Africa, the Mediterranean, India, China, New Zealand, the West Indies, and North-West America. The income of the society for 1846-7, was £116,827 18s. 11d.

District Visiting Society.—This society was instituted in 1828. Its object is to promote a general and systematic visitation of the poor, with a view to the improvement of their temporal and spiritual condition.

The Irish Evangelical Society.—This society was established in 1814. Its object is to promote the preaching of the gospel in Ireland, by assisting pastors of Congregational Churches, by supporting Missionaries, Itinerant Preachers, and Scripture Readers, of the same denomination; and to aid in the education of approved candidates for the Christian ministry intended to labour in that country. The ordinary income of the society is about £2,600.

London City Mission.—This mission has been in existence twelve years. Its object is to extend the knowledge of the gospel in London and its vicinity, especially among the poor, without reference to denominational distinctions, or the peculiarities of church government. It has two hundred missionaries, and nearly half-a-million of the population of London are under their visitation. Its receipts for 1847-8 were £16,000.

London Female Aid Society.—This institution was founded in 1836, and has for its object the restoration of abandoned females in the metropolis, and also the preservation of the unfallen from their snares and dangers. It has connected with it a Servants' Home and Registry, a Central Home, and a Refuge.

London Society for Teaching the Blind to Read.—This society was founded in 1339, for the purpose of imparting a secular knowledge and sound fundamental doctrines of Christianity to those afflicted by blindness, by means of Mr. Lucas's method of raised print.

London Missionary Society.—This society was founded in 1794. The number of stations and out-stations supported by the society in various parts of the world is 460. Its missionaries have formed 150 Christian Churches. It has 165 European missionaries, 700 European and native assistants, and fifteen printing establishments in operation. The total receipts for the year 1846-7 was £76,319 7s. 1d. The sole object of the society is to spread the knowledge of the Gospel in heathen and unenlightened nations. It is one of its fundamental principles, that its design is not to send any form of church order and government, but that it shall be left to persons to assume for themselves such form of church government as shall appear to them most agreeable to the word of God.

London Association in aid of the Moravian Missions.—The Moravian Church under its present name, was formed about sixty years before the Reformation, out of the wreck of the Bohemian Church, which had escaped into Moravia, after the martyrdom of John Huss. There, before the time of Luther, they printed three editions of the Bible in the vernacular tongue. Their missions among the heathen, commenced in 1732, have recently attracted much attention, not only as models of what such establishments should be, but as proofs how effectually the rudest barbarians may be civilized by being Christianised. Wherever the Moravians have preached the gospel among savages, they have introduced the arts of social life; and wherever the gospel has been received, those savages have become new creatures, not only in heart and conduct, but appearance and intellect.

The society has sixty-two stations, and two hundred and eighty-eight missionaries. The London Association was formed in 1817, to assist them in bearing the expenses of their missions.

National Temperance Society.—This society was established in 1842, for the purpose of assisting efforts in the cause of temperance in every part of the country.

Peace Society.—This society was formed in 1814. Its object is to print and circulate tracts; to diffuse information pointing out the inconsistency of war with the spirit of Christianity and the interests of mankind; and to point out the means of maintaining permanent and universal peace upon the basis of Christian principles. It consists of persons of all denominations.

Refuge for the Destitute.—In 1805 this institution was established for the moral and religious reformation of criminal youth of both sexes.

Ragged School Union.—This society, instituted in 1844, has in connexion with it upwards of fifty schools in and near London, containing about sixty thousand scholars from the lowest class of the population.

Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts.—This society was incorporated in 1701. Among the distinguished men who have been connected with this society, we may mention the celebrated John Wesley, who, as one of its missionaries, went to America in 1735, and returned to England in 1738. The principal stations of the society are at Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, the Canadas, Newfoundland, East and West Indies, Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand, Van Diemen's Land, and Cape Town. The income of the society, for 1847, was £95,068.

Stranger's Friend Society.—This society was founded in 1785, for the purpose of visiting and relieving sick and distressed strangers, and other poor, at their respective habitations, in London and its vicinity. Its whole management, with the exception of salaries to its officers, the total of which is less than £150 per annum, is carried on without any expense except that of printing and advertising.

Trinitarian Bible Society.—This society was instituted in 1831. The members consist of Protestants who acknowledge their belief in the godhead of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The income of the society in 1846-7, was £1,609 18s. 6d.

Young Men's Christian Association.—This society was instituted in 1844. Its object is the spiritual and mental improvement of young men engaged in houses of business, by family or social prayer, Bible classes, mutual improvement societies, &c. Any person giving decided evidence of conversion to God is eligible for membership, and the committee has power to suspend or exclude any member whose conduct is found, in their judgment, inconsistent with the Christian character. Its receipts for 1846-7 were £599 13s. 5d.

Evangelical Alliance.—The Evangelical Alliance was formed in 1844. Its object is to exhibit, as far as practicable, the essential unity of the Church of Christ; and to cherish and manifest, in its various branches, the spirit of brotherly love.

CONTINENTAL RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.

Basle Evangelical Missionary Society.—This society was commenced in 1815, and has upwards of one hundred missionaries among the heathen, most of whom are Germans or Swiss.

Belgian Evangelical Society.—This society maintains nine ministers and nine agents

Dresden Missionary Society.—This society sent, in 1844, a missionary to occupy the whole Danish mission station at Tranquebar, in the East Indies, and another to Mayaveram, a town in the same district.

Evangelization Society, Lyons.—This society is using the colporteur system with effect in its neighbourhood, and Testaments were in great demand.

French-Canadian Missionary Society—This society was founded in 1839, for the exclusive object of providing means for disseminating the Gospel among the French inhabitants of Canada.

Hamburgh Missionary Society.—This society has a mission in the Telooogo country, India.

Missionary Seminary in Berlin.—This seminary was established in 1800, and revived in 1823. From it many active and excellent missionaries have gone forth, and entered into the service of various missionary societies. It has stations in South Africa, and one in Northern India.

Neufchatel Translation Society.—This society has for its object the translating and reprinting of evangelical religious books, at a cheap rate.

Paris Deaconesses' Institution.—This institution was founded in 1841, having for its object the support and extension of Protestantism against the efforts of the Papists. The institution has connected with it a Refuge, an Infirmary, a Retreat, and a School of Discipline.

Paris Missionary Society and Seminary.—This society was established in 1824.

Religious Book Society of Toulouse.—This society has been in existence ten years. Its object is to print and circulate religious books of an evangelical character, at a low price. It has, since its formation, circulated upwards of 963,000 copies of valuable works.

Rhenish Missionary Society.—This society, which was founded in 1829, confines its operations to Southern Africa.

Société Evangelique, Geneva.—This society, which has met with much opposition from the Romish priesthood, occupies, as the principal field of its labours, the eastern provinces of France, situated between the Rhone and the Alps, together with Burgundy and the neighbouring departments. At present it has twenty stations, with twenty-four Evangelists, in eight departments of East France, and is labouring with great success. Its total income is about £131,000 francs per annum, which is, however, insufficient to meet its needful expenditure.

Société Evangelique, France.—This society has now been in existence fourteen years, during which its resources have increased from £140 to upwards of £9,000, and its agents, from 11 to 168. Between 6,000 and 7,000 persons have all, with few exceptions, been gathered in from the Church of Rome within the last three years, to frequent public worship at the stations of the society.

Societe Shretienne Protestante, Bordeaux.—The agency of this society is greatly contracted, and the sphere of its operations at present limited to a few places in the south west of France.

Societe Chretienne Protestante Du Nord.—The Protestant society of the north of France was founded in 1842, and selected as the field of its exertions the departments of the Nord, Pas de Calais, the Somme, and the Aisne. It employs eight agents, and maintains thirteen students for the ministry at Lille. Its annual expenditure is from 30,000 to 35,000.

AMERICAN MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

American Board for Foreign Missions.—This society has the largest number of Missions and Missionaries in the United States, and is the oldest established. Its labours are directed to the Indian tribes of the American continent, and also to India, China, Siam, Syria, Persia, South and West Africa, and the Sandwich Islands. It has about 500 missionaries and other labourers. Income about 250,000 dollars.

Foreign Presbyterian Missions.—Thirty Missionaries are sent out by this society, who labour among the American Indians, and also in Western Africa and India. Income about 70,000 dollars.

Baptist Missions.—Has stations in France, Germany, and Greece; in Western Africa and in many parts of the Indian Continent, as well as among the various tribes of North American Indians. Income about 100,000 dollars.

Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, New York.—These Missions were first directed to the slaves in the Southern States, and to the aboriginal tribes of Indians on the Western frontier. They were afterwards directed to the colonies of the free coloured Americans on the Western coast of Africa, and still later to the Oregon territory, South America, and China. The German emigrants in the United States engage the attention of the Missionaries, and among them they have been extensively useful. There is also a Mission for the Swedish residents and Swedish sailors. The Society has 2,341 members or communicants, among the Wyandots, Oneidas, Shawues, Delawares, Kickapoos, Pottawottameis, Chippewas, Choctaws, Cherokees, &c: 1,653 members in Texas; 1,000 in West Africa; and 1,000 among the Flat Head Indians in the Oregon territory. Missionaries, 85. Income, 120 dollars.

The minor societies are:—Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Missions of the Freewill Baptists, Foreign Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church, Foreign Missionary Society of the Moravians, Society for Ameliorating the Condition of the Jews, Foreign Evangelical Society, &c.

LONDON SOCIETY FOR THE PROTECTION OF YOUNG FEMALES.

APPEAL TO THE CHRISTIAN PUBLIC.

Seventy-two young females, under fifteen years of age, are now fed, clothed, religiously educated, and fitted for respectable servitude, in the Asylum at Tottenham. The Asylum will accommodate at least thirty additional inmates. Twenty are now waiting, and if not soon admitted must return to a vicious course of life. Numerous applications are also continually being made, but no more can be received for want of funds. Shall these young creatures continue in sin? or shall the Committee be encouraged by liberal contributions to rescue from ruin those who are asking day after day for admission.

Annual Subscription, One Guinea. Life Subscription, Five Guineas.

The Society was established in the year 1835, since which time it has suppressed 195 improper houses, and saved from ruin 405 young females under 15 years of age. During the last few months it has suppressed nearly fifty improper houses.

J. B. TALBOT, Secretary.

Office, 17, Ironmonger Lane, Cheapside.

DUTIES ON LEGACIES.

Of the Value of £20 or upwards, out of Personal Estate, or charged upon Real Estate, &c.; and upon every share of Residue:—

To a child or parent, or any lineal descendant or ancestor of the deceased, £1. per cent.—To a brother or sister, or their descendants, £3 per cent.—To an uncle or aunt, or their descendants, £5 per cent.—To a great uncle or great aunt, or their descendants, £6 per cent.—To any other relation, or any stranger in blood, £10 per cent.—Legacy to husband or wife, exempt.

If the deceased died prior to the 5th April, 1805, the duty only attaches on personal estates, and by a lower scale.

RULES FOR CALCULATING INTEREST at 5 per Cent.

Multiply the Pounds by the Days, and divide the Product by 365. The Quotient gives the Interest at 5 per cent. in Shillings.

The Best Remedy for Indigestion.

NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS are confidently recommended as a simple but certain remedy to all who suffer from indigestion, Sick Headache, Bilious and Liver Complaints; they act as a powerful tonic and gentle aperient, imparting strength to the stomach, and composure to the nervous system.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d. or 2s. 9d. each, by A. Willoughby and Co. (late B. G. Windus), 61, Bishopsgate Without, and nearly all Medicine Vendors.

Be sure to ask for "NORTON'S PILLS," and do not be persuaded to purchase an imitation.

---

Influenza, Coughs, and Colds.

SIMCO'S ESSENCE OF LINSEED

Is the most efficacious remedy ever discovered for the relief of persons suffering Influenza; the two first doses generally arrest the progress of this distressing complaint, and a little perseverance completely removes it. Children's Coughs, as well as recent ones in adults, will be removed by a few doses (frequently by the first), and asthmatic persons, who previously had not been able to lie down in bed, have received the utmost benefit from the use of SIMCO'S ESSENCE OF LINSEED.

Sold by all Medicine Vendors, in bottles, at 1s. 1½d. or 2s. 9d. each.

For Gout, Rheumatism, and Rheumatic Gout.

SIMCO'S GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS

Are a certain and safe remedy; they restore tranquillity to the nerves, give tone to the stomach, and strength to the whole system. No other medicine can be compared to these excellent pills, as they prevent the disorder from attacking the stomach or head, and have restored thousands from pain and misery to health and comfort.

Sold by all Medicine Vendors, at 1s. 1½d. or 2s. 9d. per box.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION.

Godfrey's Extract of Elder Flowers

Is strongly recommended for Softening, Improving, Beautifying, and Preserving the Skin, and in giving it a blooming and charming appearance, being at once a most fragrant perfume and delightful cosmetic. It will completely remove Tan, Sunburn, Redness, &c., and, by its balsamic and healing qualities, renders the skin soft, pliable, and free from dryness, scurf, &c., clear it from every humour, pimple, or eruption; and, by continuing its use only a short time, the skin will become and continue soft, smooth, and the complexion perfectly clear and beautiful.

Sold in bottles, price 2s. 9d., with directions for using it, by all Medicine Vendors and Perfumers.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO WESLEYAN METHODISTS.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY,

Price 5d.,

THE WESLEYAN NEWSPAPER,

A Religious, Political, Literary, and Commercial Journal,

The Advocate of Progress, the Friend of Freedom, and the Opponent of Abuses.

THE WESLEYAN, as a religious Journal, is devoted to the exhibition, illustration, and advocacy of the distinctive principles of Wesleyan Methodism, as an instrumentality eminently fitted, under God, greatly to benefit mankind; and pleads for that liberty in the Connexion which harmonises with the great principles of the word of God, and is the only pledge of the unity which harbingers success. Its columns are open to the temperate discussion of Methodist and general religious subjects, and in them will be found a larger amount of strictly Methodist intelligence than in any other weekly publication.

THE WESLEYAN, in politics, is Liberal—distinct alike from the exclusive and oft-exploded, but still retained, opinions of the old Tory school, and the visionary, impracticable, and levelling dreamings of the Chartists. It contends for equal civil and religious rights, claims tolerance for all, and exposes the abuses which have crept into both Church and State. It is the advocate of economy, retrenchment, and reform.

In all other respects, THE WESLEYAN is a carefully conducted General Weekly Newspaper, in which every passing event obtains the prominence its importance demands; and in which the politician, the agriculturist, and the man of business will find the information they respectively need, and the family circle much to interest, enliven, and improve.

The terms for THE WESLEYAN are, in advance, 5s. per quarter, 10s. the half year, and 20s. a year. An additional charge of 1s. per quarter, if on credit.

THE WESLEYAN, having an extensive and respectable circulation, offers an advantageous medium for Advertisements. The charges moderate.

Orders and Subscriptions received by the Publisher, JOHN HARRISON, 59, Fleet-street, London; or by the Booksellers and News-agents in the country.
